Resilient Cities December Update

18 December 2015

Contribute to the Resilient Cities 2016 congress program!

Our public call for contributions remains open until January 8th.

SUBMIT YOUR CONTRIBUTION!

Resilient Cities 2016 will focus on inclusive and resilient urban development, local implementation of global frameworks (e.g. the Sendai Framework), and financing resilience. Congress themes also include measuring and evaluating resilience implementation, holistic and integrated climate actions, and new emerging topics, such as cities responding to forced migration and to vector borne-related risks.

Registrations will open in February 2016

All cities, public, and private sector representatives, academics, researchers, practitioners, and anyone with a genuine interest in the topic of urban resilience and adaptation are encouraged to attend Resilient Cities 2016. Stay tuned for updates on registration!
